George Royal is Citizen of Year

BELLE GLADE—Even though featured guest speaker Paula Hawkins cancelled her appearance at the last minute, many of those attending the annual Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce Banquet Thursday night commented it was one of the best meetings ever.

The highlight of the evening was the awarding of the Citizen of the Year plaque to George Royal (see accompanying story) along with the Policeman of the Year to Calvin Curtis Stambaugh and T.M. Corderman and the Argibusiness to Jim Gressinger.

Mrs. Hawkins had accepted the invitation of the Chamber to speak at the meeting back in June, but Executive Director Jewel Crane was notified last Monday she would not attend.

Instead of Mrs. Hawkins, County Commissioner Bill Bailey and USSC vice president Bob Lee gave talks.

The opening address and welcome was given by Dolly Hand, who said the area has the richest soil in existence and unlimited opportunities for its people.

The people of Belle Glade, she said, have come through trial and adversity in all forms but the people are tough and are quick to respond to calls for help.

BELLE GLADE — S-s-s-s! Hey, buddy! Wanna 'buy a fire truck... cheap? Well, how about a bike? Ya need a typewriter? What would ya give for a berry spray duster... trailer mounted no less?

And if you feel uneasy with those kind of offers floating around, I got a five foot, two-door safe... reasonable too.

And those are just a few of the things for sale Friday when Bert Ward starts auctioning off surplus property acquired over the years... long years, by the city.

So the fire truck is a '48 Chevy, how many times does the average person get a chance to bid on a fire truck, rolling stock or not?

And if anything, some of the GOOD NEWS came in batches Friday from Jim Gressinger, left, when the former Chamber of Commerce director was presented the Agri-industrial Man of the Year Award by outgoing Chamber President Dale Stapp. The award was presented only hours after Gressinger's son, Mark, spoke for the first time since he was hospitalized by a motorcycle accident several months ago.

Fire truck going, going, gone!

other items up for sale are even more interesting.

When Ward takes the auctioneer's stand at noon in the Public Works compound, a total of five cars, 16 trucks, 25 bicycles and a wide selection of other equipment and material will go on the block. The items up for auction range in condition from junk to articles with several years' use left.

Some of the more esoteric articles up for sale include validating machine and a Federal on-larger... great for someone who has something he wants made valid or bigger.

Then there are two chrome cars (Who said city cars can't be fancy?), a red power chain toy tractor (for the earlybird Christmas shopper whose kid already has everything else) and 'some fire hydrants (for the same shopper whose dog has everything else).

And if all that isn't enough, one can also browse through a selection of surplus typewriters (Only for the stout of finger, these. Not an electric in the bunch), an assortment of metal folding chairs, molded plastic chairs and a typing table. For the overheated browser, the city is also auctioning off one each type fan, motor, self-cooled.

For the grand finale, just to show the city is considerate of the overloaded auction buyer, there's also an assortment of three, six and eight-yard garbage dumpsters to haul off the prizes one buys.

But not a moose head in the whole show.

City to rehire Briley-Wild?

BELLE GLADE—Major steps toward rehiring Briley, Wild and Associates of Ormond Beach as the city's consulting engineers were taken Monday night during negotiations with the firm and the city commission's decision to review a contract at its regular meeting on Nov. 13.

Should the firm be rehired, one of the key provisions will be contained in a supplement to the main contract. The supplement calls for one of Briley-Wild's engineers to be on site in the city at least 36 hours a month, to be broken down into two-day sessions.

The on-site engineer was one of the items discussed by the city commission as being necessary because, as City Manager Robert R. Sanders said, the city is too small to be able to attract a full-time, city paid engineer but too small to go for long without engineering services.

Company President Harry Wild, son of the founder, and Vice President W.E. "Tom" Strang said that should they be hired, they already have a qualified engineer assigned to the on-site task.

They said the engineer's name is Mike White. "He's worked in Belle Glade when we were your consulting firm before," Strang said. "He's been here, he likes it here and he's already asked for the job if we're hired."

Mayor Tom Altman said there was one other point which bothered him but Wild cleared that up in the discussion.

Altman said he was worried that a part of the contract being offered by the firm requires the city to obtain the permission of the firm before hiring anyone else to do

Mixson visits

BELLE GLADE — Wayne Mixson, state representative from Marianna and candidate for the Lieutenant Governorship with Bob Graham, flew into Belle Glade Airport for a whirlwind visit with voters Wednesday morning.

Dropping onto the grass landing strip in a helicopter, Mixson was accompanied by Roy Hayes of South Bay Growers and met with newsmen and area businessmen, led by Chamber of Commerce outgoing President Dale Stapp.

Mixson is a cattleman and farmer in his own right and said he knows the Glades area well and understands agriculture problems.

"I'd like to go through all the mills," the rushed candidate said, "and meet all the employees and shake hands. We must stress how important the agricultural industry is to the economy."

After visiting with local people for about 15 minutes, Mixson's helicopter took off for Clewiston, Punta Gorda, Arcadia and Orlando.

Fall back, mark time

Remember the little jingle, "Spring forward, fall back?"

It takes effect this weekend when most parts of the United States change from "Daylight Savings Time" to "Standard Time."

The change officially takes place Sunday morning (Oct. 29) at 2 a.m., but persons not wishing to remain awake that long may set their clocks BACK one hour before they go to bed.

If you're a night owl, setting the clock back gives you an extra hour to stay up. If you're an early bird, it gives you an extra hour of sleep in the morning.

But such luxury does have its price: Come spring, clocks will again be set forward, and that hour of sleep you gained will be lost.

of the agricultural areas from here to Orlando.

I wonder if Jack and Paula really made the right move last week when Mrs. Hawkins cancelled, at the last minute, her scheduled talk before the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce.

I've heard more talk about that one incident that almost anything else since I've been in Belle Glade and from reading the newspapers, found that Mr. Eckerd also got into some hot water when he attempted to cancel a speech.

The reason Mrs. Hawkins gave for not being in Belle Glade was that she was scheduled to make a speech in the Panhandle.

And in the Panhandle, folks were upset when Mr. Eckerd told them he couldn't attend a scheduled meeting with them and Bob Graham because he had other obligations. He said he would send Mrs. Hawkins in his place.

But folks up there were just as upset, it would seem, as were folks in the Glades. And the club putting on the show vowed that if Eckerd didn't show up, they would read to Graham and all the assembly, the telegram he sent them accepting the speech date.

Needless to say, Eckerd managed to re-work his schedule so he could be there.

And we wonder if Mrs. Hawkins being in Pensacola was more important than her being in the Glades.

I would bet she lost a number of votes by not keeping her word in coming to Belle Glade.

The second part is that, simply stated, if Paula and Jack feel the Glades are expendable during the campaign, what will they feel like if elected?

Ralph Kidder likes to supply me with column ideas every so often and I appreciate it, too.

The other day he handed over an ad that ran in US News and World Report that was paid for by the insurance industry and asked why federal employees don't pay Social Security, yet are eligible to draw from the trust fund upon retirement.

It's a good question.

But if President Carter fulfills his promise made the other night that he'll cut down the federal government payroll, decrease federal spending, allow more free competition by deregulating a number of industries, and hold wages and prices down, I guess I could forgive a little oversight like that.

If he can, good. If he can't, which seems more likely, maybe he should look over these "little" things and adjust them so it will be fairer to us hard-pressed taxpayers.

Then there was that South Dakota Senator who declined to run for re-election this year because he feels he can't accomplish anything.

In an interview the other day, he called the Senate "an exclusive millionaires' club" with no real power. He said the folks who really run the country are the Dayid Rockefeller and that these guys have the power of the purse strings, therefore they are more powerful than the president.

A lot of people have been saying that right along.

One other thought. There's been a lot of publicity generated in the past few weeks over Constitutional Revision Number 9 ... casinos on the Gold Coast.

But keep in mind that this is just one of the proposed revisions and I would bet that the others are just as important, if not more so, than Nine.

In the "letters to the editor" column things are heating up over some of the other revisions, especially Number Two. That one leaves seven others to consider. And some of them will affect us greatly.

Give 'em a once-over before you go to the polls.

Promises kept

Listening to some of the city officials who attended the annual Florida League of Cities meeting in Miami last Thursday, Friday and Saturday, they seemed to be pretty impressed with Gov. Reubin Askew for going ahead with his talk on casino gambling.

Some of the commissioners and administrators were obviously impressed with the governor's oratory and most of them agreed on the points he was making to the effect that Proposition 9 is about as attractive to the taxpayers as an offer of the Black Plague.

Some of the commissioners also indicated they were impressed by the talks given at different times by gubernatorial candidates Bob Graham and Jack Eckerd.

But most of all, they were impressed by the very fact Governor Askew showed up at all.

We were too. What was impressive was that the governor had just received word his brother had died and not only did he speak but, at his request, it wasn't until after he had spoken and made a hurried exit that word of his brother's death got out at the convention.

Some politicians, we're glad to learn, keep their promises, even after they're in office.

...and things that go bump

"From ghoulies and ghousties and long-legged beasties, and things that go bump in the night, O Lord deliver us."

That old Scottish prayer might take on a new meaning these days. Instead of a feeling of superstitious terror, people experience a sense of delicious anticipation on Halloween, waiting for the "ghoulies and ghousties and long-legged beasties" to make their appearance with demands of tricks or treats.

But deliverance from things that go bump in the night would still be a good prayer before we send our children out on their annual nocturnal rounds.

Because the holiday falls on Tuesday, there will almost certainly be trick or treaters out over the weekend and more will probably be walking the streets Tuesday, calling for extra care over several days by drivers in residential neighborhoods.

One thing we don't want to report in next week's Herald is the injury or death of a child because the driver didn't see a small figure scurrying along a dark street in a dark costume. Make Halloween a treat for our kids, not a trick.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

The news of Oct. 19 contained an article entitled, "Planned Parenthood makes War." I was greatly misquoted in the article and several statements from my talk with the Pahokee Rotary were taken out of context, and therefore the article gave misinformation to the reader.

First of all, Planned Parenthood Federation of America's motto is "Children by choice, not by Chance." (A typesetting error read change Ed.)

Planned Parenthood is funded not only by corporations, individuals, and medical clinic fees, but also by grants from foundations and federal agencies.

There have been several donations made to the Glades Area Center of Planned Parenthood in addition to the two listed in the article. One of these donations which aided in the opening of the new center was made by the Double D Ranch.

The 25 percent figure is an estimation and relates to pregnant women aged 19 years and younger seen at the Glades Health Center.

The Planned Parenthood program does not, "give advice on birth control and human relations." We offer birth control information and education in areas of family planning, and world population, in addition to the topic of human sexuality.

The Glades Area Center performs pregnancy testing; provides problem pregnancy counseling; and sells foam and condoms. The referrals provided are to Planned Parenthood in West Palm Beach, private physicians, and medically supervised clinics in addition to the one referral given in the news article as, that of the Health Department.

The statement concerning teenage marriages was phrased incorrectly. The true statement is that in comparing teen marriages, with marriages between individuals 20 years of age and older, the teen marriages are 5 to 3x more likely to end in divorce, particularly when a premarital pregnancy is involved.

I never said that most of the youths requesting Planned Parenthood's services are 15, 16 and 17 years old. We do serve this age group, but more of our services are to the 20 to 24 year old age group.

"The youngest person we've seen at a clinic in Palm Beach County was 12," is a misquote. The true statement is, "a young person as young as the age of 12 has been seen at a Palm Beach County clinic."

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

There's a couple of sheets floating around town that I happened to run across last week which answers the perennial question of why can't Johnny read?

So why can't Johnny read? Easy. Mom and pop can't write. You doubt that? Well gather around and lend an eye to some of the reasons people have for doing things, or at least their excuses.

"I am forwarding my marriage certificate and six children. I have seven, but one died, which was baptized on a half sheet of paper."

Beautiful, huh? The really sad part, as told to me by the usual "unimpeachable source" is that all of these winners were lifted off reports in some kind of gum/mint office. I don't claim to know which office or who did the lifting. Read on.

"I am writing the welfare department to say that my baby was born two years old. When do I get my money?" See Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey.

"Mrs. Jones has not had any clothes for a year, and has been visited regularly by the preacher. Unfortunately, there was no explanation as to whether the preacher was trying to get any clothes."

"I cannot get sick pay. I have six children. Can you tell me why?" Or, "This is my sixth child. What are you gonna do about it?" And some people wonder about the wisdom of having sex education in school.

Then there were a couple of comments about missing persons. "Please find out for certain if my husband is dead. The man I am living with can't eat or do anything until he knows." Why? Is he playing May 1?

Then there's the more positive approach of, "I am glad to report that my husband who is missing is dead."

But there are always those anxious to please. "In answer to your letter, I have given birth to a boy weighing 10 pounds. I hope this is satisfactory." And, "In accordance to your instructions, I have given birth to twins in the enclosed envelope." "I thought there was a limit to the weight on packages to be delivered by letter carriers."

On the other hand, some people were downright irritated by their run-ins with the U.S. Gvt. mint.

"I am very annoyed to find you have branded my son illiterate. This is a dirty lie as I was married weeks before he was born."

Others were just listing themselves as being in dire need. After all, everyone needs a dire need and then.

"I want money as quickly as I can get it," one person wrote. "I have been in bed with the same doctor for two weeks and he doesn't do me in dire need. After all, everyone needs a dire need and then."

Then there were those who were quite willing to let the consequences of whatever might happen in the lap of the government if said government doesn't cooperate.

"Unless I get my husband's money pretty soon, I will be forced to live an immortal life."

Couldn't help but wonder if that was the same woman who might have earlier sent in the other reports.

"My husband got his project cut off two weeks ago, and I haven't had any relief since."

Granted, there is some degree of hilarity in some of these excerpts, but note the thread of sadness woven through the fabric of illiteracy.

We wonder why Johnny can't read and here's mom and pop in the same straits. How in the name of Billy Blue Blazes can we expect our high school graduates to become scholars when this is the educational background they know?

That's why I've been saying for years our kids need help. They need more help from the schools but the schools can't provide it all.

They need answers they don't even know the questions to...and that's even worse off than this woman, who at least knew what to ask.

"You have changed my little boy to a girl. Will this make a difference?" In this day and age, lady, who can say? Who can say?

Farm Bureau meet successful

BELLE GLADE—There wasn't any trolley but the air was thick with politics Saturday evening when members of the Western Palm Beach County Farm Bureau packed the Glades Correctional Institution Clubhouse to wolf down steak with all the trimmings.

Politicians looking for votes circulated with Farm Bureau members looking for fun and food. An estimated 200 people were out in force for the festivities and some time was even found for business.

The members, in their annual business meeting, passed a resolution recommending the Florida Farm Bureau set up an education committee to serve as a watchdog over school problems and progress throughout the state.

In other business, a unanimous voice vote approved a slate of officers for reelection.

The covered dish dinner was held at the GCI Clubhouse because high water at the Belle Glade Marina flooded out the pavilion. This was the first time in several years the affair has been held anywhere other than at the marina.

HOW MUCH WATER SHOULD YOU DRINK?

All living cells of the body function in a fluid environment. This fluid is steadily lost through the gastrointestinal and urinary tracts. More is lost by perspiration and through the lungs. It must be replaced because the skin cannot absorb moisture from the air no matter how humid the day.

The body usually functions best if two quarts of liquids are taken in each day. One quart is considered the minimum. So estimate how much you get each day in coffee, etc., and drink additional water to help keep you healthier.

Final 201 meeting is held

BELLE GLADE—A tentative date of Dec. 11 was set for a public hearing on the final draft of the Palm Beach County 201 Facilities Plan Glades Region Tuesday when the 201 Technical Committee had its first look at the plan.

The final draft is the result of two years' work by the committee and copies were distributed to committee members Tuesday in what is expected to be its final meeting.

Kenneth Strang of Russell & Axon Engineers, who was the consulting engineering firm along with Barker, Osha and Anderson, Inc., said that if things go according to schedule, test work could begin in Belle Glade as early as January.

The plan basically calls for a deep-well injection system to be used to get rid of effluent from sewer plants in the three cities in western Palm Beach County.

The wells in South Bay and Pahokee aren't expected to be drilled until at least 1986, because those two cities are expected to have no problems in disposing of effluent until then.

The Belle Glade well, however, is expected to be drilled as soon as possible. The drilling is also connected with other projects the city is expected to tie in with an overall grant application.

Other projects include expansion and improvement of the city's sewer lines, removal of the package sewer plant at Arrowhead Estates and expansion and improvement of the city's sewer treatment plant which will give it a total capacity of 3 million gallons per day.

If the grant is approved by the federal government, the Federal Environmental Protection Agency will pay for 75 per cent of the total cost of the project package.

Strang said final approval is also needed by the three cities involved in the project, along with the county. In a discussion between Strang and other committee members, it was tentatively agreed to hold the public hearing immediately prior to the first meeting in December of the Belle Glade City Commission.

Palm Beach still king of agriculture

Palm Beach County is still the Agricultural King of the Eastern United States according to Clayton Hutcheson, county extension director.

In the 1977-78 agricultural report, the Palm Beach County Cooperative Extension Service indicated the county produced a total of $473.2 million worth of agricultural products, with another $169.3 million worth of production in agribusiness.

But if the county is still king in agriculture, it owes its crown to the Glades, which produced at least $328 million—a whopping 70 per cent of the county's total.

Breaking down the figures, the sugar industry contributed $214.5 million to the overall total, a figure up over last year but down over the year before last.

Almost $158 million worth of vegetables were grown and sold in the county as a whole, with $102.9 million worth being grown in the Glades area.

Celery easily outstripped other vegetables in the dollar value being produced, with almost $40 million worth being shipped from the Glades.

In the meantime, $17 million worth of corn was grown and shipped, accompanied by $14.9 million worth of radishes and $12 million worth of iceberg lettuce.

The value of agriculture in the county climbed to $473.2 million in the 1977-78 season from the $422.4 million the year before but is still below the $528.8 million of the 1975-76 season or the all-time high mark of $679.6 million of 1974-75.

Altman is graduate

BELLE GLADE—City Mayor Thomas Leslie Altman of 806 N.E. 22nd St., was one of 1,166 students who graduated from Florida State University in August, according to the University office of information services.

Altman, a Belle Glade High School graduate, almost completed his studies for a bachelor of arts degree in social science in 1972 but missed by six credit hours having his requirements to be an early graduate.

He completed his final coursework in June at Palm Beach Junior College, satisfying FSU's requirements for graduation.

City marina income flooded out

BELLE GLADE—The South Florida Water Management District (WMD) agreed last week to help the city get the Municipal Marina at least partially back into use, the City Commission learned Monday night, but the city is apparently out any income it will lose on flooded out camp sites.

City Manager Robert R. Sanders reported that the WMD Board of Directors tentatively agreed to three of four requests he made concerning the marina, which has been all but closed down over the past two months because of high water.

Sanders said the directors agreed to construct an access road to the campsites still above water, to fill in the large parking lot an open one of the two boat ramps and to extend the dike road to the city's water intake site.

On the other hand, the city will apparently have to absorb an estimated $30,000 in lost revenues because the lake level has flooded out nearly all the camp sites. Sanders said sometime ago WMD Director John Maloy had told him the WMD would make good the lost revenues.

When Tom Altman asked City Attorney John Baker whether there is any legal recourse the city can take to reclaim the lost revenues, Baker said that in his opinion there is none.

When the city commission and WMD officials first began negotiating the WMD's purchase of the city recreational area with an agreement to lease it back, it was with the agreement the use of the marina wouldn't be interrupted while a new section of the marina being built with WMD funds is being built.

Commissioner William Grear asked Sanders if there is any chance the work being done on the new section could be hurried up to relieve the city's problems.

Sanders said plans discussed earlier, which would open Scout Island for some camping sites by installing water and electrical connections on the high ground, depends on getting the access road stabilized.

In other action, the commissioners:

Agreed to an alternative to HUD's demand for an immediate payback of $16,696 in funds misappropriated by former Community Development Director George Gartner.

A city staff suggestion already approved by HUD, and approved Monday night by the commissioners, calls for the Public Works Department to perform one or more jobs in the Community Development target area which would be credited to the CD program.

Agreed to annex J-Mark Fish Camp and zone it for business.

Delayed action on a request by James Martin to change the city's ordinance on locating alcoholic beverage licenses to allow him to sell beer and wine for consumption at 429 SW Ave. C.

Agreed to participate in the construction of a bicycle path on the south side of Airport Road from Main Street to 27th Street.

LOWER AND SLOWER than what he's known in the past it might have been but when Bert Ward flew former astronaut Edgar Mitchell and his wife, Anita, a candidate for the state legislature, into Belle Glade Airport for the Farm Bureau bash Saturday, Ward said he found the "craters" strip reminiscent of former landing places. Also in the plane, not shown, was Lilly Fuller.

6A—HERALD-OBSERVER, Thurs., Oct. 26, 1978

Former resident PBJC teacher

A member of the Art Department faculty at Palm Beach Junior College - O.E. "Gene" Arant - is one of about six persons in the nation teaching the dye transfer process in photography.

Arant is originally from Pahokee.

The dye transfer process is used in making color photographs. Started in the late '30s, it makes the most permanent color prints obtainable in photography.

When color film was developed and improved, most photographers changed from dye transfer to the simpler photo chemical process, but recently there has been a trend back to the earlier, more complex method, Arant said.

The senior instructor, who has been on the PBJC faculty for 10 years, did not get started in the art profession until he was close to 30. After serving in the Air Force for two years, he became an aircraft mechanic in Miami and Bartow for a while, and later had his own automotive repair business for six years.

"One day I just decided I was going to attend PBJC, so I closed the shop, and did just that," he said.

After receiving his associate in arts degree from the college, he went to Florida State University in Tallahassee, where at first, he majored in art education. After a semester he transferred to the college of fine arts.

Arant earned his bachelors and masters degrees from FSU before returning to PBJC to teach.

The artist also teaches the dye transfer process at Florida International University (FIU) in Miami.

"We don't need art education teaching, but we do need artists teaching," he believes.

In addition to his work at PBJC and FIU, Arant has a business, Art Photographic Associates, and also serves as a photo consultant for corporations with photographic problems.

Businessmen oppose increase

A clear majority of small businesses oppose the scheduled increases in the federal minimum wage, according to a nationwide poll conducted recently by the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB). Eighty-three percent of the respondents voted to limit minimum wage increases to 5.5 percent per year over the next three years, rather than the Congressionally approved increases of 9.4 percent, 6.9 percent, and 8.0 percent.

NFIB is a non-profit, non-partisan organization representing the interests of small and independent businesses. With more than 547,000 members, NFIB is the largest small business organization in the United States and is growing more rapidly than any other individual membership business organization.

The Carter Administration has asked the private business operator to limit wage and price increases to 5.5 percent, but the scheduled minimum wage increases greatly exceed this guideline. Federal Reserve Board Chairman William E. Miller has indicated that, in order to control the accelerating inflationary spiral, some postponement of the legislated minimum wage step increases might be advisable. It is apparent from the results of the NFIB survey that most small business owners agree with Miller's assessment.

Applicants may apply to Academy

BELLE GLADE — Area high school students interested in attending the United States Air Force Academy should apply for a nomination while they are still in their junior year, according to Major Joseph M. Hughes, who is the Academy Liaison Officer in the Glades. The local pharmacist's Air Force Reserve assignment includes counseling and guiding students to prepare for admission to the Academy.

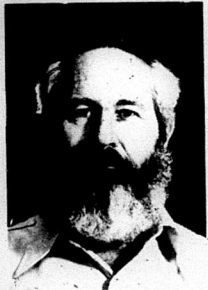

Most high school students will find it helpful to take one of the college testing programs during their junior year, Hughes said. The Academy accepts either the College Board Admission Testing Program or the American College Testing Program.

Hughes is available now to meet with high school students and their parents. He is also available to talk with school counselors and to present briefings at each school.

Hughes may be contacted at Hughes Pharmacy, 25 S.E. Ave. E, Belle Glade or by calling 996-0200.

A NEW MEMBER is welcomed into the Kiwanis Club of the Glades by President Mel Chaney (left). Joining the Kiwanians last week was Mike Farley.

KEY LIME PIE

4 eggs 1 baked and cooled 9 in. pie shell
1/2 cup lime juice 1 can Sweetened Condensed Milk
Beat eggs lightly. Add can of condensed milk and beat til well blended. Slowly add lime juice, gently mixing. (Beating at this point causes runny filling.) Pour into baked and cooled pie shell. To an early resident of the Keys this was a real treat. A simple recipe with easy to procure and store ingredients. Going camping? Use a prepared graham cracker crust and it is a no bake recipe. Top with meringue for a really elegant dessert.

BUNDLING CAN BE FUN on those cool winter nights for the winner of the handmade patchwork quilt being shown here by St. Elizabeth's Guild President Gene Connell and Echo Painter. The quilt was made as part of the fund-raising annual bazaar at St. John's Episcopal Church.

Christmas bazaar is Nov. 11

BELLE GLADE—A handmade quilt is once again expected to be the high point when the St. Elizabeth's Guild hold its annual Christmas bazaar at 10 a.m. Nov. 11 at St. John's Episcopal Church.

There will be a variety of homemade crafts, Christmas decorations, baked goods, preserves and other unusual gifts from which to choose.

A luncheon will be served from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. with a donation of $3. For tickets, contact Barbara Hyneeman after 7 p.m. at 996-3328.

Donations for the quilt are $1 each. The patchwork quilt, hand stitched by several members of the guild, is unusual this year, according to Guild President Gene Connell and Mrs. Echo Painter, who coordinated the quilt-making, because there is a pattern in stitchery on the reverse side.

Anyone wishing more information on donations for the quilt should contact Pat Smith after 5 p.m. at 996-8391 for tickets.

Blood drive is slated

PAHOKEE—A Community Blood Drive is scheduled from noon to 8 p.m. Monday by the Palm Beach Blood Bank Pahokee Branch at Everglades Memorial Hospital according to Margie Brown, R.N.

Residents are being urged to donate blood to build up the bank's level to maintain safe supplies. People who give blood at the drive can protect their family for a year under the family plan.

Ms. Brown said donors can also make a gift family plan to someone else or give to any reserve account or individual they choose. Within 21 days, the blood they give will go to help a patient in need.

SURE HANDS OF THE SURGEON

A child walks . . . an arm is straightened . . . a growth is removed . . . these and many other things are the result of the fine work of the surgeon. This is an occupation and a labor worthy of appreciation.

A star . . . a new born baby . . . the world itself . . . these and many other things reveal God to us. "The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament sheweth his handiwork."

Psalms 19, 1

God has wrought a great work. Let us show our love and appreciation by worshipping him in Church

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Pahokee church schedules revival

PAHOKEE—Are you faced with problems or a lack of peace and joy? Jesus Christ is the answer for people of all ages and nationalities, said Rev. Steve Pittman of the Pahokee Church of God of Prophecy.

The church will attempt to meet those spiritual needs at a revival the week of Nov. 5-10 at 2500 East Main Street.

According to church spokesmen, "You can come to know Jesus as your personal Saviour. Find out the true meaning of the words of Christ when He said, 'I come that they might have life; and have it more abundantly'."

Brother Dave Hutch, Florida State youth director for the Church of God of Prophecy will be the evangelist.

According to Rev. Steve Pittman, "He is a wonderful minister and man of God; he and his wife are also very talented singers."

Everyone is invited to the revival. Services begin at 7:30 p.m.

Taxpayers taken for a ride

GAINESVILLE—U.S. taxpayers are being taken for a ride on a federal gravy train that is providing massive funds to Cesar Chavez' United Farm Workers (UFW), according to the president of Florida's largest farmer organization.

Florida Farm Bureau Federation President Walter J. Kautz cited a new $600,000 grant awarded UFW by the federally-funded Community Services Agency (CSA) to help finance the union's ultra-high frequency radio system which is designed to link 20 UFW field installations in California with UFW headquarters.

He noted that the new CSA grant comes only weeks after UFW got grants of $805,000 from the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) program — a part of which would be used to train UFW micro-wave technicians.

Kautz said it is easy to conceive the total cost of UFW's radio system as "in the many millions," and he said he wondered where — and at what federal agency — the gravy train would make its next stop.

"In an election year, when the Carter Administration is luring voters with tax cuts and economies in government, the UFW grants are an insult to every taxpayer," Kautz said.

He added that, counting an earlier CSA grant for $349,000 to buttress UFW's credit union, 1978 federal grants to the union from CSA and CETA totaled $1,754,000.

"Mr. Chavez is the first union leader we have heard of," said Kautz, "who had to have federal funds to build his union." And, he added, "There is evidence that even as his facility for recruiting federal dollars grows easier in Washington, his facility for recruiting farm workers grows more difficult in the field."

Belle Glade city employees honored by City Commission

BELLE GLADE — Four city employees were recognized Monday night by the City Commission for their parts in rescuing a two-year old child and his grandfather recently and other employees received service pins recognizing years of service.

Mayor Tom Altman signed a resolution commending Stan Whitlock, Bennie Hughes, Eddie Becton and Thomas Rogers for pulling Jessie Lee Padgett, two, and his grandfather, Clarence Padgett to safety from a car submerged in a canal at the city marina.

Jessie Lee had been left in the automobile, with the engine running, when his mother, Betty Padgett, 20, of 833 N.W. 27th St., went into Slim's Store to buy some soft drinks.

The youngster managed to shift the car's transmission into low range and the car rolled into the canal, with the elder Padgett climbing on the roof of the sinking car to attempt to get the toddler out.

Padgett finally managed to get the car door open and get young Jessie Lee out but ran into trouble when a thick blanket of hyacinths covering the canal impeded his swimming.

Becton and Rogers jumped into the canal, followed by Hughes and Whitlock. The men formed a human chain and passed the child to the shore, then each of the men were pulled in one at a time.

Altman also recognized a number of other city employees for their longevity of service with the city, presenting pins to each based on the number of years of employment.

Receiving for 20 years of employment were Maude Vereen, William Abel and Johnny Rutledge. Ten year employees honored were John Youngblood and Jessie Brown.

Five year pins were presented to Sharon Branlett, James Cannon, Isaac Jones, Calvin Stambaugh, Thomas Walker, Jesse Womack and Samson Gary.

Altman also singled out six other employees, who didn't receive pins but had been with the city a number of years. He mentioned Donel White, with 22 years, Harvey Mathews with 27 years, Garland Kellar and Frank Anderson with 28 years each and Charles Goodlett and Cecil Bair, each with 30 years.

ASTRONAUT FANS Tami Ward, daughter of Belle Glade Lion Bert Ward, and Ruth Wedgworth, the only distaff honorary Lion in Belle Glade, met former moon walker Edgar Mitchell when the Commander addressed the Lions last week.

Moon walking astronaut speaks to local Lions Club

BELLE GLADE — Former astronaut Edgar Mitchell told members of the Lions Club last week he went into space a technologist and returned, after only 34 hours on the moon, with a greater feeling for the harmonious nature of the universe and of being a citizen of "a great, great advanced nation."

"I had many personal emotions," Mitchell told an estimated 200 members of the Lions Club and their guests. "It was quite an awesome experience. Standing on the moon or being in deep space reinforces all ideals and values we've grown up with. As our system grows, we lose sight of that."

But if the former astronaut could wax lyrical on his feelings while walking the lunar landscape and seeing earth from 250,000 miles away, he could also take time to puncture a myth for a young listener.

No, he told a member of a delegation of students from St. Peter's Lutheran School, the astronauts didn't take Tang with them to the moon. He explained to the school children that while the astronauts were drinking on the moon was a drink made of freeze dried orange crystals.

"Why do we try and kill each other," Mitchell asked in another part of his talk, "and conquer each others' land. All we're doing is destroying ourselves and our planet. Our destiny is to be much greater than that... use our gift as God's creation to improve the planet and cooperate with nature."

"We're inventing the technology to fight hunger and disease," he said, "and we can do it because as free citizens, we have the liberty and freedom to move ourselves, ahead as long as we utilize our technology wisely."

Ironically, Mitchell had been introduced by Lions Club Vice President Charles Ward as a man who had flown to the moon but who was afraid to drive over SR80 from Palm Beach so he had flown.

Mitchell, whose wife, Anita is running for the state legislature, conceded to that fear and said he couldn't understand the long delays in four-laning the killer highway.

The United States space program, Mitchell said, has proven a wise investment by the American people, returning seven dollars for every dollar spent over the 15-year span of the man-in-space program.

He said the space-program technology has included such medical innovations as monitoring systems and pacemakers and that the return in pure science has included newly isolated isotopes.

Mitchell also said that while no near planets are known to shelter intelligent life forms, he believes there is intelligent life somewhere else in the universe.

Having walked on the moon, Mitchell said, reinforced and broadened his concept of God. He said he now believes the ordinary person's concept of God is probably too narrow but that anyone who travels in outer space has come to a closer understanding of divinity.

And last of all, the former astronaut said there is a definite need for readjustment for former astronauts.

"What do you do for an encore," he asked, "after you've walked on the moon? The only psychological problem I encountered was that now it is difficult to find a challenge to equal that experience. Suddenly I have no more private life."

Gator JV loses, faces Christian Day

BELLE GLADE—It's tough to be a coach of a junior varsity team. Ask Glades Day coach Dick Schmidt.

Moore Haven outmanned and outgunned his charges last week and handed them their third defeat of the season as opposed to one win.

But before the game, the varsity Gators drafted Schmidt's star player, Gary Herick, and an injury took away the services of Darrel Moore.

Then to add to his troubles, this Thursday (today) the Gators renew their cross-town rivalry with a game with Christian Day School.

In the Moore Haven game, the Terrier pups scored in all quarters and Glades Day managed a touch-down in the last on a two-yard run by Scott Meredith that capped a 65-yard drive.

"We were just physically outmanned," said Schmidt. "Moore Haven had a really big team."

But there were several bright spots. Manuel Perales got 75 yards in seven possessions and tackling honors were granted to Ronnie Cameron with five and four assists; Arnold Moore with five and six; Todd Humphrey with four and four; Perales with five and three and Richard Schiele with four and four.

Bart Branyon recovered a fumble for the Gators, but they gave up three turnovers, one fumble and two interceptions.

Thursday night the Gators play Christian Day and Schmidt said he feels Christian Day has a good team that will be hard to beat.

"Kent Davis is a good running back and quarterback," said Schmidt, "and they have other good, big players on the team."

Belle Glade club resolution

Rotary opposed to charter

BELLE GLADE—Members of the Belle Glade Rotary Club passed a resolution Tuesday opposing the county charter after hearing a talk by Property Appraiser David Reid.

Reid has been an outspoken opponent of the charter, saying it was not needed and would be expensive. When the resolution opposing the charter was introduced by Rotarian Fritz Stein, it passed unanimously.

Reid said opponents of the charter say it will accomplish several things, among them allowing the county commission more say in internal operations of county officials, allowing the recall of public officials, and allowing citizens to initiate petitions for local needs.

But Reid told the Rotary that of the 3,104 counties in the United States, only 78 have the charter form of government, even though moves for charters began as early as the 1830s.

He said the charter contains liberal amendment procedures which would be used, after it is first enacted, to change and tighten the charter more than it is now.

He also said of the 15 members of the county Charter Advisory Committee, seven voted to pass it to the county commission, four voted to kill it, and the rest were not at the meeting when the vote was taken.

Two county commissioners oppose the charter, those being Bill Bailey and Bill Medlen, said Reid, and two, Dennis Koehler and Peggy Ewalt, are for it. The other one, Lake Lytal, is leaving office after this term.

Under the recall provision, he said, citizens would first have to submit petitions with three percent of the registered voters signed up, then have the names validated and give the official they are trying to recall an opportunity to prepare a statement which he should not be recalled.

After that, petitions are drawn up by the Supervisor of Elections office for signing by 15 percent of the registered voters and if that many names can be gathered and validated, the issue is put on the next general ballot.

"By that time," said Reid, "whoever you're trying to recall is probably out of office anyway." Reid said since this recall provision was enacted in 1972, there have been no recall elections in the state that were successful.

Reid also charged the charter would center the power of county government in the hands of a few as two people. He said two county commissioners could wind up setting policy for the rest of the county if one were absent.

He also said he was alarmed at the fact the Administrative Code, which will be drawn after the charter passes, if it does, is an unknown that can become a "monster."

Reid said the county can get much of what it wants through special acts, not the charter.

He further stated the charter could cost the county a minimum of $1 million more a year because of the sum of the purchasing, personnel and other functions of the five constitutional offices being passed to the county commission.

The agencies of the commission that will handle these functions, said Reid, will need at least that amount to handle the load.

And if you're worried about Constitutional Revision Number 2, or Florida's proposed "little ERA," said Reid, the charter has a proposal much like that which he said would lack discrimination for homosexuals.

"Whatever you do," Reid summed up, "you need to become aware of what the charter will and not do."

National Guard works for students

LAKE HARBOR—Four years ago, C.S. "Mutt" Thomas donated five acres of land to the Glades school system for a wilderness area so children would be able to see an area in its natural state.

For four years, the land remained in a "wilderness state" without much being done.

Then the local National Guard offered its services in cutting nature trails and generally putting the land into a usable state.

The area was to be called the West Area Environmental Study Center and was to be used by nine schools in the Glades for students in the fourth through the eighth grades.

Steve Bass of the school system said students in the sixth grades will spend three days in the area during the coming term.

The nature trails were cut by the Guard using knives and axes but care was taken not to disturb the growth as much as possible.

To stay in running for conference

Gators face "must win" situation Friday

BELLE GLADE — In a match that pitted two strong defenses against each other Saturday night, Glades Day's Gators generated enough offensive power to score 19 points while holding John Carroll to nothing.

But the game coming up Friday night at the Glades Day campus is all-important. The Gators must beat previously undefeated Miami Westminister if they are to move into the lead in District 79A.

Action began early during the Carroll game when the Gators kicked off and Steve Richie promptly intercepted a Carroll pass on their own 40.

In three plays, including two for first downs, Richie advanced from the 15 for the six points. Mark Foster, place kicker, was out for the evening with a neck injury and Richie's attempt at the extra point was blocked.

The rest of the half developed into the defensive battle with both teams unable to move the ball or sustain a drive. Jason Shelton, punter for the Gators, booted three times for a 42-yard average and Coach Byron Walker said the Carroll punter was doing as good a job.

During intermission, Walker said he made some adjustments to prevent the blitz of the inside linebackers Carroll had been using all evening.

"Carroll likes to let us rest up the first half, then come back strong in the second," said Walker. "We knew we had to shut them down this half."

And the Gators succeeded. On the kickoff, the Gators took the ball and drove 70 yards down to the six when Basil Markham carried it over for the score. The conversion attempt failed and the Gators went ahead 12-0.

In the fourth quarter, the hometown team got their last touchdown mid-way through the period when Ed Ballard set them up with an interception he carried down to the 45.

Winston Byrd got the touchdown from the 12 and Richie kicked the point after to wind up the game.

The passing defense came in for praise by Walker, who noted Carroll threw 16 times for five completions good for 12 yards, but had five interceptions. Gators gathering in interceptions included Ballard with two, and Richie, Byrd and Shelton with one each.

In addition to that, the Gators recovered four Carroll fumbles. Benton Tyson got two and Shelton and Byrd one each.

Bruce Sweet was the most active Gator tackler, getting nine with four assists, but Markham had five with one assist and Richie and Byrd got four each.

"We were pleased that we had no turnovers," said Walker. The Gators fumbled twice, but recovered it both times.

On offense, Richie was the leading ground gainer with 82 yards. The Gators had a total of 217 yards rushing as opposed to 42 and 36 yards passing, quarterback Nacho Bueno tossing six times for one completion, but no interceptions.

Defensive coach Ken McCracken was extremely pleased with the defense during the game and pointed out that during the season, the defense has only been scored on once.

In fact, of the six Gator wins, four have been shutouts. LaBelle scored on a long bomb and the only other two touchdowns came during the Benjamin game, one of which was scored on the offense.

Members of the defense McCracken praised included guards Bruce Sweet, Kenny Strickland and Mitch Strickland; tackles Doug Tanner, Mark Foster and Benton Tyson; ends Jon Scruggs, Wesley Thompson and Billy Sanchez; linebackers Basil Markham, Winston Byrd and Victor Perez; defensive halfbacks Steve Richie and Jason Shelton and safety Ed Ballard.

"The other teams keep trying to throw on us," said Coach Walker (possibly because ace safety Quique Echave is still out with an injury) "but we keep shutting off their passing attack. Ballard has done a good job at safety."

In the Carroll game, Walker had worried that his team would take them lightly. They didn't and Walker said he was glad "to get through it."

Friday night at 8:00 at Gator stadium, Westminister brings its 7-0 record to town and hopes to cling to its first place in the District 79A conference.

But the Gators are hoping to whip Westminister which would throw the conference lead into a three-way tie and possible voting on the champion.

Better yet, if Gold Coast manages a win over Benjamin and Glades Day whips Westminister, the Gators will be first automatically.

But Walker and crew aren't counting on that. "Gold Coast executes their offense really well," said Walker. He noted the Miami team's tailback, John Croell, has had three games with over 200 yards rushing.

When Westminister beat Benjamin 36-0, Croell had 246 yards. In the Gator-Benjamin matchup, the whole Gator team collected only 263 yards rushing against Benjamin.

Walker said he anticipates a bruising ground game as word is getting around about the Gator secondary. In the past two games, Ballards has intercepted four passes and during the season as a whole, the Gators have managed at least two interceptions per game. In "the sportswriter's poll" this week, Westminister was ranked sixth in Single A listings while Glades Day held down the number 10 spot, the first time the local team has shown up on the list this season.

The Gators also go into the game healthy. Only Echave is still out but for Westminister, Foster, Donnie Courson and Manuel Phillips will all return from the sick and injured list.

Raider-Suncoast matchup Friday

BELLE GLADE—The Glades Central Raiders buried Hallandale High Saturday, 49-6, with a total offense of 514 yards compared to Hallandale's meager 138 yards. A preliminary to meeting unbeaten Suncoast at home Friday night.

"I think we've got a better ball club than they (Suncoast) are," Head Raider Coach Ben McCoy said, "...if we play." McCoy said the Raiders did not execute Saturday against the hapless Hallandale.

McCoy said the Raiders can't take the field against the Chargers Friday, however, with just the idea of defending against the vaunted Suncoast passing attack.

"You can't give them the run just to defend their passing," he said, "because Griffin's scored eight or nine touchdowns this year. I think Greg Bain is as good as a stand-out Charger pass receiver."

Anthony Carter, Carter's going to be his assignment Friday.

McCoy said he also expects to depend heavily on his defensive line to rush the passer and said the Raider's defensive front wall is one of the team's strong points.

In the Raiders' win over Hallandale's Chargers, McCoy singled out quarterback Terry Hammond for the Offensive Player of the Week but couldn't choose any one person on defense.

"I think the whole defense was exceptional against Hallandale," McCoy said. "They were held to a total of minus three yards in offense and a lot of the yards they gained came in the fourth quarter when we had our sub in."

Everybody played in the game. The Raider defense stopped the Chargers' running game cold, putting 49 yards in the hole while the Hallandale air game made 46 yards.

Wilford Morgan scored eight points and made ten unassisted tackles," the head Raider said. Freddie Garrett made nine tackles and two assists, Chris Ellick made eight tackles, Hector Santana made seven tackles.

"We picked off three of their passes," he went on (one by Greg Bain for 34 yards, another by Nathaniel Stinson for 21 yards and still another by Willie Gibson for 29 yards). Leon Sadley, Tom Gibson and Randy Burden each made five tackles on defense.

On offense, Hammond completed 10 of 18 attempted passes for 219 yards and ran the ball four times for 28 yards and one touchdown.

Johnny Rowe once again led the Raider running game with 136 yards in ten carries and catching one pass for 52 yards while he scored three touchdowns.

Rowe was followed by Archie Godfrey who made nine carries for 121 yards and a touchdown as the Raiders racked up 296 yards on the ground to add to the 219 yards in the air. Other runners were Carl Harper who picked up nine yards in four carries and Jessie Moore, who carried eight yards in three carries.

In the air, Greg Bain caught five passes of seven thrown at him to pick up 83 yards and one touchdown. Jeff Henderson caught three passes of six thrown at him for 44 yards and a TD and Willie Williams made 23 in the one pass he caught.

In the meantime, Wilford Morgan made five more points for the Raiders' total by kicking extra points and ran the ball in once for two points.

The Raiders drew first blood when Godfrey cut loose and ran 78 yards to paydirt. That was the only score in the first quarter.

In the second quarter, the Raider offense went wild, racking up 27 points. The first of those scores came on a 33-yard pass from Hammond to Bain. The second TD came when Rowe made a 40 yard run, followed by a 52-yard scoring strike from Hammond to Rowe and a 24-yard pass from Hammond to Henderson.

In the third quarter, Hallandale made their sole touchdown for the night on a one-yard run. An attempt to run for two extra points failed and the Raiders struck again when Rowe bulled over from the four for still another touchdown.

Only one score was made in the final quarter, when Hammond ran in from the one. McCoy began emptying the Raider bench then and the scoring was over for the night.

When the Raiders meet Suncoast at Memorial Stadium Friday night, he'll be meeting one of his old proteges. Al Sutton, the Charger mentor, served as an assistant coach under Ben McCoy when McCoy was head coach at Lake Shore High School.

The Chargers and the Raiders are the only unbeaten schools in the Suncoast West Conference and what would be a championship game isn't, only because the Raiders were forced to forfeit their first two games against conference foes Atlantic and Jupiter.

Although Glades Central has built a 6-0 record on the field, the forfeits, ordered by the Florida High School Activities Association Executive Committee give the Raiders an official 4-2 record thus far.

That ruling is the subject of a suit, however, by Johnny Rowe's parents and grandparents and, should the court ruling reverse the committee's ruling, the Raiders could clinch both the conference and district championship titles with a win over Suncoast Friday.

Pahokee homecoming week is coming up

PAHOKEE — "The World of Walt Disney" will be the theme of the 1978 Homecoming at Pahokee High School on Oct. 30 through Nov. 3.

The annual celebration will be coordinated by the student Council, and classes are presently involved in planning floats and activities.

Floater construction is slated to begin Monday of homecoming week.

The next scheduled activities are on Thursday, when students will hang a symbolic effigy of a Jupiter Warrior and wear school colors in honor of "color day." That evening a bonfire and pep rally will be held, kicked off by a snake dance led by the Marching Blue Devils band from the high school to the football field at 7:30 p.m.

On Friday students will stage a "crazy dress parade" and the "crazy olympics." In the afternoon a pep rally will be held, followed by a parade at 2 p.m.

The parade begins at the high school, goes down East Main Street to North Lake, turns at the bank to Rardin Avenue, then goes down South Lake to First Street, and then back to the school.

The homecoming football game begins at 8 p.m. Friday at Lair Field when the Blue Devils will challenge the Warriors from Jupiter.

The community is invited to participate in the parade. Anyone wishing to sponsor a float, a decorated car or a marching unit should call the school at 924-6241 and leave a message for Student Council sponsor Jeff Heitzman and Deborah Wright.

MONROE YOUNG holds Punt, Pass and Kick Competition trophy he won in the district championship in Hialeah Saturday.

Local youth winner of area PPK program

PAHOKEE—An 8-year-old Pahokee Elementary School student will participate in the Southeastern Area Punt, Pass and Kick Competition sponsored by the Ford Motor Company.

Monroe Young, the third grade son of Nellie Nilsson of 632 Rardin Ave., won the right to compete in that upcoming event at Saturday's district competition in Hialeah, where he was named district champion.

If he wins the area competition in his age group, which will be held in Miami during the Dolphins-Dallas Cowboys game on Nov. 4, Young will have the opportunity to go on to regional and national competitions.

Young previously won local and zone competitions which pitted him against youngsters from the Belle Glade and Palm Beach east coast areas. In the district competition, he edged out 8-year-old youths from as far north as Ocala.

The Punt, Pass and Kick competition is a contest in the fundamental football skills of punting, passing and kicking. Participants are judged on distance and accuracy.

Young is sponsored by Pahokee Ford.

According to Young's third grade physical education (PE) teacher, Meridith Ellison, Young has a natural ability for sports. She rates him as the top 8-year-old P.E. student in the school, noting that he set new school records in three of four track events last year.

She says he can jump four feet in the high jump, 11.6 feet in the broad jump, throw a soccer ball 74 feet, and run the 50-yard dash in under six seconds.

At Pahokee Elementary school, youngsters are not introduced to team sports until the third grade. Ms. Ellison explained. So she attributes much of his preparation for the Punt, Pass and Kick Competition to just the exercise he received in class.

Young said he has been practicing some of his football skills with a cousin.

Ms. Ellison said Young also has a good attitude and tries hard to excel.

Although he was a bit shy during interviews Monday, Young said he hopes to play football when he grows up. He is already knowledgeable in the sport, citing Tony Dorsett as his favorite player, and the University of Texas squad as his favorite team.

Without any organized football leagues in Pahokee, Young will have to wait until he's old enough for the high school junior varsity before he gets a taste of real action.

But he already has an eye on the position he wants to play — a linebacker, he says.

Raider runners runners-up in conference/ break school records

BOCA RATON—Two school records were set by members of the Glades Central cross country team last Thursday as the Raider runners wound up runners-up to Atlantic for the Suncoast West Conference championship.

The Raiders scored 40 points to the Eagles' 36 in the conference championship meet at Boca West Country Club. Robert O'Neal ran the three miles in 16:51 to place third in the conference and Willie Tyler made the circuit in 16:03 to place fourth. Both runners beat the old school record of 16:18. Coach Willie McDonald said other runners and their times were Bobby Brereton, placing 10th in 18:39; Richard Ford, placing 11th in 16:47; Patrick Raymond, placing 12th in 16:50; Levell Moreland, placing 14th in 17:01 and Renard Bennett, placing 38th in 18:41. In the girls' competition for the Suncoast West Conference Championship, McDonald said Glades Central entries were Rosa Wilkerson, who placed 15th in the two-mile run, Mary West at 17th, Sheila Ashley at 20th and Jackie Thomas at 22nd.

Pringle at Armstrong State College

SAVANNAH, GA.—Former Glades Central basketball and football star Michael Pringle will be among nine Florida athletes taking the court this fall when the Armstrong State College Pirates try once again to make it to the NECCA playoffs.

Pringle, the all-time leading scorer at Florida College in Tampa, went to Armstrong with two of his Florida College alumni and Joe Henry, the leading junior college scorer in the nation last year, who Pringle played against at Polk Junior College.

Pringle built a 20.6 points per game average at Florida College, with a total of 1150 points over his two years there. He also averaged 11 rebounds per game.

Crusaders to meet Glades Day

BELLE GLADE—Though they were able to hold them for the first half, the Christian Day Crusaders gave up 12 points in the second in losing to Ft. Lauderdale Christian 20-0 last Saturday.

Tonight (Thursday) they take on the Glades Day Junior Varsity in what may be an exciting game for local fans.

The Crusaders drew first blood against Ft. Lauderdale when quarterback Kent Davis broke through the middle and romped 82 yards to score.

In the second quarter, however, Ft. Lauderdale came back with a drive and scored from the five with only 15 seconds left, then got the two-point conversion to go ahead 8-6.

In the third quarter, Ft. Lauderdale got two touchdowns, one on a 67 yard run and the other on an interception and 12 yard return.

"Our biggest problem," said head coach Ken Lassiter, "was turnovers." He noted the Crusaders lost five, three on fumbles and the others on interceptions.

Statistically, the Crusaders were outgunned with only 72 yards total offense as opposed to 257 but Davis had a good evening when he rushed for 131 yards by himself.

On defense, Steve Woods had seven tackles and Andy Fontaine nine. Matt McCall collected six. The second half found the Crusaders with bad field position and punting against the wind didn't help matters. For two possessions, Ft. Lauderdale was held to virtually zero yardage when they gained the ball inside the Crusader 30.

Going into tonight's game with Glades Day JV, the Crusaders will carry a 1-4 record. The baby Gators have a 1-3.

"We'll be working hard on our turnovers and mistakes this week," said Lassiter. "We can't afford them."
